MEDICINAL.

Its peculiar efficacy is due as much to the process and skill in compounding as to the ingredients themselves. It checks diseases in the outset, or if they be advanced will prove a potent cure.

No Home should be Without It.

It takes the place of a doctor and costs prescriptions. All who lead sedentary lives will find it the best preventive of and cure for Indigestion, Constipation, Headache, Biliousness, Piles and Mental Depression. No loss of time, no interference with business while taking. For children it is most innocent and harmless. No danger from exposure after taking. Cures Colds, Diarrhoea, Bowel Complaints, Feverishness and Feverish Colds. Invalids and delicate persons will find it the mildest and most effective of all purgatives. A little taken at night insures refreshing sleep and a natural evacuation of the bowels. A little taken in the morning sharpens the appetite, cleanses the stomach and sweetens the breath.

A PHYSICIAN'S OPINION.

"I have been practicing medicine for twenty years and have never been able to put up a vegetable compound that would, like Simmons' Liver Regulator, promptly and effectively move the Liver to action, and at the same time aid (instead of weakening) the digestive and assimilative powers of the system."

L. M. HIRSTON, M.D., Washington, Ark.

Marks of Genuine: Look for the Trade-Mark on front of Wrapper, and the Seal and Signature of J. C. Simmons & Co., in red, on the side. Take no other.

The Bishop of Delaware's Caution

The Rev. Leighton Coleman, Protestant

Episcopal Bishop of Delaware, says:

"Believable. I do not mean simply to be honest or truthful, but, rather, be reliable. When you are given anything to do do it. When you promise to attend even to the slightest matter of business, do not think that because in itself it may be a trifle it will not signify whether it is done or not.

Put yourself out of the way, if necessary, to keep your word. I am just now tempted to change my printer because I cannot rely upon getting the 'proof' when he promises

it. Conscientiousness in small things will encourage men to trust you in greater things.

"Be thorough. We may have learned in our school days to smatter. This habit follows us frequently in our after life. Too many of us are satisfied with merely getting through our work. We ought to do our best always, so that it shall not be necessary for us to do it over, and thus lead people when they wish the same kind of work again to give it to some one else because of the incomplete way in which we did ours. Do what you have to do in such a manner as not to be afraid of its being examined over so carefully. It was far better for you to do a little well than to do much badly.

"Don't look too much at the clock. Some young men are so eager to get away from their places of business at the exact hour for closing as to give their employers reason to believe that their hearts are not in their work. If you want to make yourself useful, you will cheerfully stay behind a few minutes rather than leave the day's work unfinished. I could tell you of some young men, now in prosperous circumstances, who owe their promotion simply to their not being in a hurry to quit, and who did not mind doing more than was required of them.

"Make yourself indispensable. Try to master every detail of your business. Strive to the utmost to improve on the work of to day. Be polite and obliging to all with whom you have to deal. Let your promptness only be equalled by your accuracy. Then when a more lucrative position is tendered you elsewhere, instead of being allowed—as it always seems to me, rather ignominiously—to go, your employer will say:

"I can't spare you. You have made your self necessary to me. What inducement can I offer you to stay?"

"Don't be ashamed of your religion. Let there be no cant nor hypocrisy, but a manly, straightforward adherence to religious principles. Make your business a part of your religion. Do not get so immersed in the one as not to give to the other fair play. In your diligent attention to your secular duties you are as truly serving God as when you say your prayers and read your Bible.

But beware lest by an inordinate love of early gains you lose the unsearchable riches of Christ. In all your plans and methods have a supreme regard for the will and glory of your divine employer, so your labor shall not be in vain."—N. Y. World.

LABOR IN THE SOUTH.—The Chattanooga,

Tenn., Tradesman has instituted an inquiry with reference to the value of negro labor in industrial channels in the South. The inquiries were sent to 300 leading southern manufacturers, representing blast furnaces, rolling mills, miscellaneous iron works, mines, lumber mills, saw mills, etc. Replies were received which represent 9,000 negro employees, of whom 2,500 are skilled. The average wages paid common negro labor is $1.75 to $2.25 per day, and skilled labor runs from $1.75 to $2.25 per day, though several correspondents pay colored puddlers, heaters and rollers as high as $4 and $5 per day, and many furnaces pay as high as $2.50. The replies, without a single exception, show that there is no difference at all between the pay of whites and blacks for the same class of work. The manufacturers are unanimous in the opinion that for common labor in the southern States the negro is more efficient and useful than the white; and without exception they declare themselves well satisfied with the negro in the factory, and announce their determination to continue him in his place. Many state that he is making progress in skilled work. The Tradesman adds that the condition of the negro is constantly improving, and as an industrial factor his usefulness is now recognized by all.

Extracts from Testimonials of Patrons.

[From Hon. W. W. Leake.]

Bayton, La., June 1, 1889.

On responsible advice I placed my eldest son at Kenmore for a short time. I was so much pleased with the school that I kept him there. I afterwards sent two younger sons to Kenmore, and influenced others to patronize the school. I found there every advantage that I could desire for my sons, and I cordially recommend the school in every way to others.

W. W. LEAKE.

[From Rev. R. J. McBryde, D.D.]

Grace-Memorial Rectory, Lexington, Va., June, 1889.

While chaplain of the University of Virginia I noticed the university high school which the Kenmore boys in general took in their classes. It evidenced their careful and thorough training under Mr. Strode and his choice assistants. Since then I have been a patron of the school. It therefore gives me pleasure to testify to the healthy moral tone of the school, its home-like character and its attention to the religious needs of its members. It is second to none in the State as a training school for business, collegiate or university life.

R. J. MCBRYDE.

Thibodeaux, La., May 27, 1889.

I know of no school which I could so safely recommend to those having boys to educate.

Very truly yours, TAYLOR BEATTIE

Pittsylvania County, Va., May 27, 1889.

It gives me pleasure to recommend Kenmore High School to the patronage of the public.

WALTER COLES.

I do not hesitate to state that in my opinion this school has few equals in this State, and I know of none that are superior.
